

HEATH TECNA

Job Posting

Title: Manufacturing Engineer- CF & IA
Reports To: Operations Manager
Application Deadline: Open Until Filled
Posting: Internal/External

Responsibilities: Provide Manufacturing Engineering support and coordination during the design and fabrication and installation of interior components

- Resolve technical issues regarding fabrication and installation of aircraft interiors
- Disposition of non-conformances as MRB representative
- Review and sign off Engineering drawings
- Troubleshoot processes/materials/tooling to improve efficiency and quality
- Coordinate design, fabrication and on-time delivery of tools and NC Programs
- Create and/or revise material and process specs as required
- Provide feedback to Design group on producibility of product
- Mfg Engineering representative to the Design and Build Team
- Create and maintain tool planning for new and existing products
- Monitor labor hours and tooling materials to program budgets
- Shop floor support
- COQ review via Corrective Action Teams
- Convene coordination meetings with sister departments within Operation Organization
- Support Departmental and Personal IPMD Objectives/Measurements

Support Production Shifts via rotations

Requirements:

- Bachelor degree in applicable discipline or equivalent work experience required
- Minimum 2 years experience as an Associate Manufacturing Engineer
- Excellent blueprint reading skills
- Knowledge of composite manufacturing processes and tooling
- Tool design experience a plus
- Computer literate including Excel, Word, and PC based CAD programs
- Ability to work within and lead in a team oriented environment
- Lifting requirement: 30 lbs.
- Ability to obtain and keep MRB authority

Equal Opportunity Employer